

Hello Fellow Classmates,

This email is for all classmates, even if you will not be attending the game with us on September 4th.

Outlined below are some last minute details, including an all are welcome pre-reunion event, and some information that will hopefully help you if you have not been home in a while.

Pre-Reunion Activities

Sunday Evening

In addition to the official event on Monday at PNC Park, Sunday night we are having an informal get together at Bakery Square on Penn Avenue – officially City Kitchen at 145 Bakery Square. All TAHS '70 classmates are welcome to attend. To help us plan, please respond to this email and let us know if you plan to attend.

We have four tables reserved in the outside area from 4:00-7:00 pm. A small number of appetizers will be available (to ensure they reserve the tables); City Kitchen contains a number of restaurants and a full-service bar for those wanting more food or other options.

Photos

We will not have a photographer at the Galley or at PNC Park. We are hoping that everyone will take pictures and share them with the group. We have set up a group on the Photocircle app to share pictures. This link will guide you through downloading the app and joining our reunion group. You will have to set up an account in Photocircle so we recommend you go through the setup process prior to our events.

Daytime Activities

As you think about daytime activities, here are some suggestions of things to do in Pittsburgh:

1. Some neighborhoods have changed dramatically since 1970. Consider wandering around one of them:

Squirrel Hill's transition to a large Asian population is obvious from a walk down Forbes or Murray. There are only 3 stores left on Forbes from 1970 - PNC bank, the Squirrel Hill Cafe and the newsstand. Test your Chinese language skills at some of the new bakeries and grocery stores.

The Strip District has transformed to a popular residential and shopping area. It is the place to go for Perogies, donuts, cheese and Steeler garb.

Lawrenceville has a large collection of trendy bars and restaurants. It's where the Pittsburghers in their 20s want to live.

2. Segway tours of the downtown area are available starting at Station Square. Here is the link:

Other places also offer tours. For example, Rivers of Steel has tours around the Carrie Furnace and other industrial sites. (They also have an interesting small museum in Homestead.)

3. The North side has some interesting "art" establishments. We recommend the Mattress Factory for some 21st century art works. Randyland is a funky yard that the homeowner has designed to amuse and entertain and, of course, there is the Andy Warhol museum. It is a modest walk to see all three and, if you time it right, you can even end up at the stadium.
4. The old sites are still there including the Carnegie and Frick museums, Frick and Schenley Parks, the Phipps Conservatory, a completely transformed Carnegie Mellon and a surprisingly little changed Pitt.

We're so excited about the weekend and can't wait to see everyone. Both evening events will provide great opportunities to catch up with old friends and relive experiences. We hope you all feel the same way.
